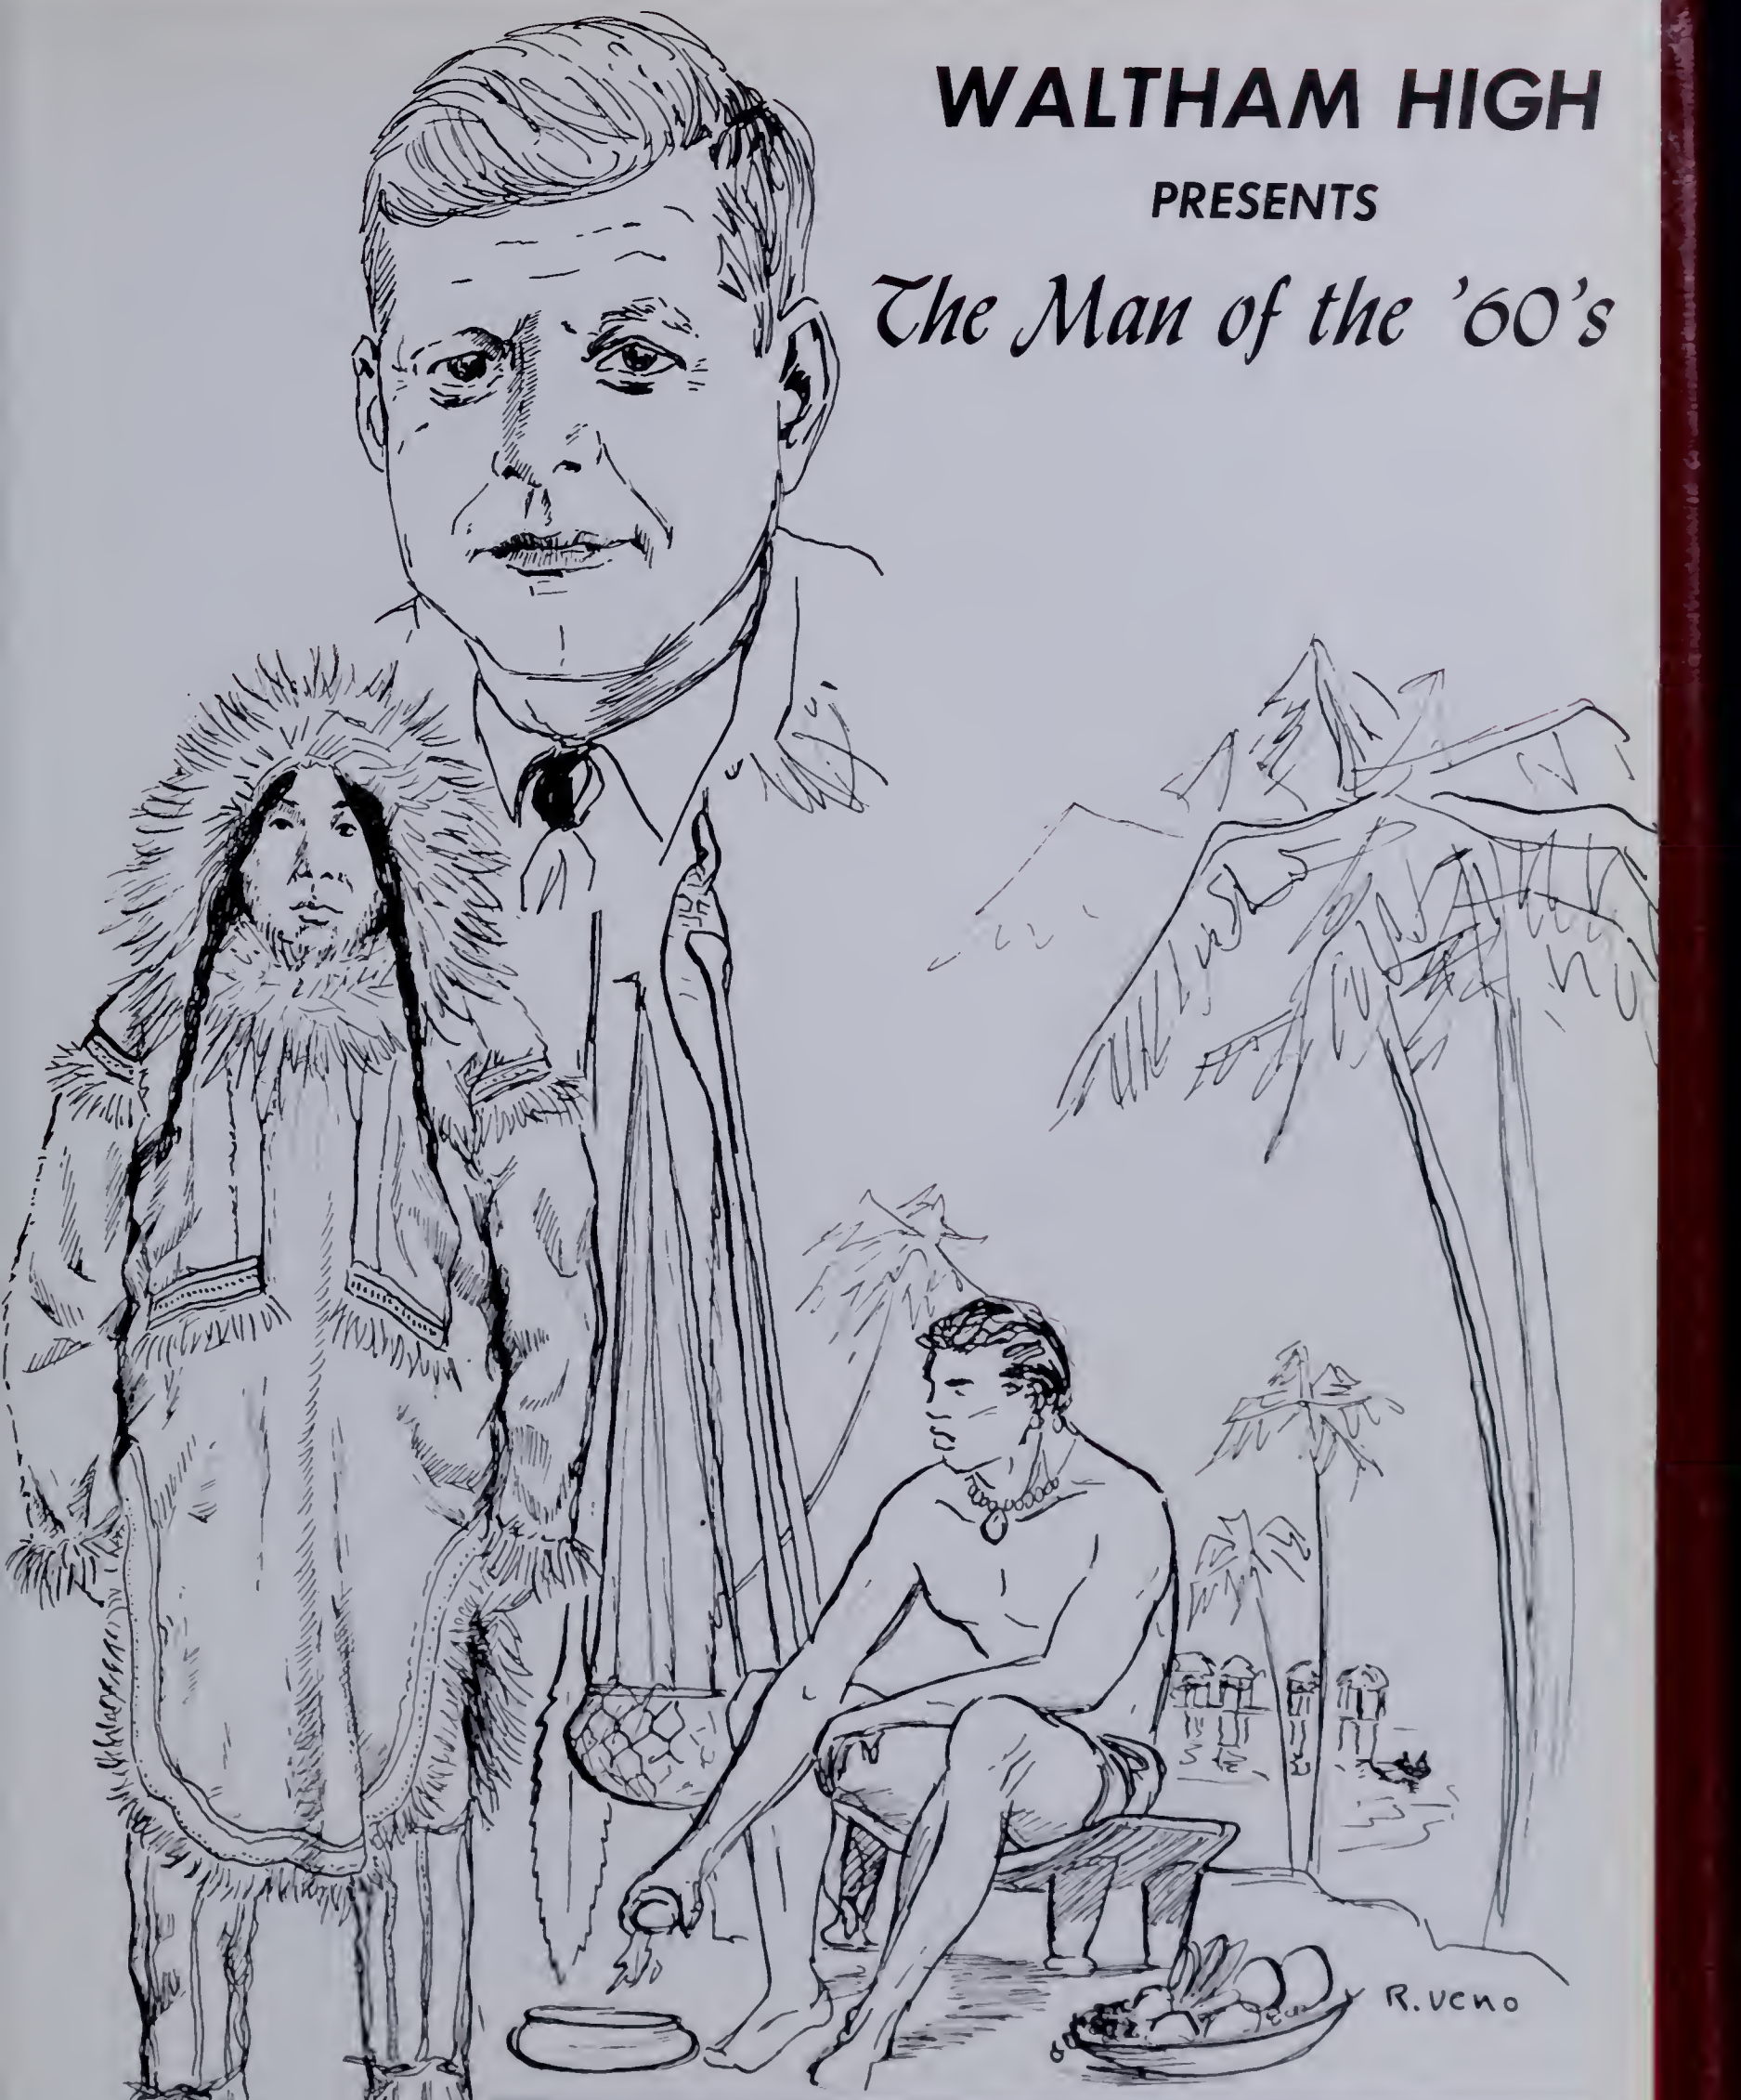
The Man of the '60's



The " '60's"—an era of change and challenge. As Hawaii and Alaska expand our borders, President John Kennedy's "New Frontier" seeks to clarify our national aspirations. Let us all say a prayer that the Hand of God will guide our President in leading our nation to true greatness and strength

Foreword

We have lived through three of the most eventful years of this century. Great men have arisen, great men have died in this short span of time. Newly independent states have appeared on the face of dark Africa; supreme power in nations has been entrusted to new leaders, some capable, others radical. There has been conflict and there has been happiness during these three years, which form only an infinitesimal grain in the sands of time.

We, the Class of 1961, have been witnesses to the making of history. In our yearbook we have recorded the men and events that have occupied such a prominent place in our lives and in the eyes of the world.

As we record these personalities, we wonder whether time will erase many of the names of today from the chronicles of the world, or if these names will withstand the test for immortality. How many footprints will remain on the shifting sands of time?

The Editors

"Lives of great men all remind us
We can make our lives sublime,
And departing, leave behind us,
Footprints on the sands of time."

Dedication

DR. JOHN W. McDEVITT

With respect and admiration we, the Class of 1961, dedicate our yearbook to Dr. John W. McDevitt.

In addition to his eighteen years as Superintendent of Schools, civic-minded Dr. McDevitt has served as a trustee of the Waltham Public Library, a director of the Waltham Boys' Club, a director of the Waltham Chapter of the American Red Cross, and a director of the Waltham Chamber of Commerce.

In 1928 he received a Bachelor of Arts degree from Boston College, where he later took a Master of Arts degree. In 1956 he received his doctorate in philosophy from St. Michael's College in Vermont.

On November 11, 1959, he was presented with the third annual David I. Walsh Award by the David I. Walsh General Assembly. The Knights of Columbus unanimously elected Dr. McDevitt Deputy Supreme Knight in October, 1960.

We will not forget the leadership and guidance that Dr. McDevitt has given us during our years in the Waltham schools.

Superintendent

Our new superintendent, Mr. James FitzGerald, is a graduate of the College of the Holy Cross, where he played varsity football. In 1934 he joined the Waltham School Department as a science teacher at South Junior High. Before becoming Assistant Superintendent of Schools in 1957, he was principal of the Banks and the Whittemore schools. On January 1, 1961, he became Superintendent of the Waltham Public Schools.

MR. WILLIAM J. GALLAGHER—Senior High

To the class of 1961:

Winston Churchill once stated graduation was not the end, not the b ning of the end but the end of the b ning. May this Mirror reflect happy m ries of cherished friendships at Wa
High School and may it be often a ple permission in your postschool living.

William J. Galla

To the class of 1961:

I extend my very best wishes for a successful future to each and every one of you.

Having completed the high school phase of preparation for the future, you now are ready to follow different trails—trails leading to college, technical schools, the business world, industry and the armed forces.

Whichever trail you follow please remember that you have a moral responsibility to yourself and society to do the best that you are able to do.

ROLF STAHLHEBER

Hi Kids,

America scored a touchdown. A strange mixture of yelling football fans, rushing people, book reports, spelling tests, and election debates in the beginning; very soon the atmosphere of your school—of my school—became very familiar.

No wonder! I got generous guidance and help from Mr. Gallagher, our headmaster, and from my homeroom teacher Mrs. Goldings, from Mademoiselle Dubois in French, and Mr. Hood in English, and especially from my A.F.S. faculty-advisor Miss McCullough, who taught me in U.S. History and in Problems of Democracy. You helped me to understand your school system, which is so entirely different in its stress upon social activities and sports. I enjoyed it, and I will miss it when I go back to Germany.

I want to thank my teachers, the faculty, and above all, you for this year of pleasant and rich experiences. I won't forget it.

A cheer for Waltham High,
Rolf Stahlheber

THE CHALLENGE TO 1961

We are now embarking on a perilous new decade
With a brilliant young President to lead us;
More world problems confront us than ever before,
And it is for us, the American people, to solve them.

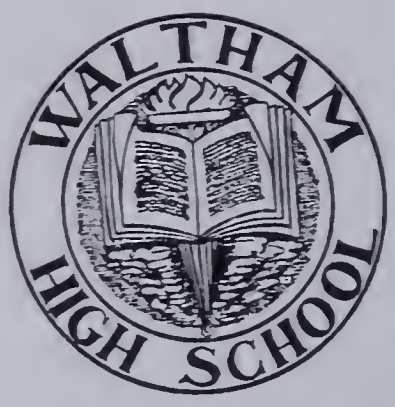
There are "new frontiers" to create
And opportunities at every step;
One of us could be sent to the moon
Or explore the vast depths of the ocean.

Plagued by Communism
That grows more treacherous
We, belonging to a nation free,
Striving to maintain its status,
Will overcome the challenges ahead.

We are proud Americans
With great faith in our Creator;
We are vigorous Americans,
The architects of the "New Frontiers."

JUDITH KENNEDY

Senior Class Poems



A QUEST FOR PEACE

The advent of life's journey is upon us.
We now must take the helm
To guide our ship past the perils of temptation,
Never faltering, never failing in our goal.
Like Argonauts of old,
We, too, sail forth in quest
Of a prize lofty and sublime;
The Golden Fleece of Peace is our pursuit
To proudly gain for every land.
The omnipotence of the Creator is our strength.
With faith in the power of His blessing
We set forth unafraid.
Ahead are many pitfalls—
A mad Scylla of intolerance,
A Charybdis of engulfing storms,
Clashing rocks that echo strife and war—
These forewarn us of our potential doom.
If, however, we steer our ship away from perilous shores,
One day we may find our quiet harbor,
There to have in its glory
True and lasting peace.

CLASS

As we are gathered here today, the sands of time continue to run their inevitable course through the hourglass of history, each grain heralding the inevitable culmination of our high school careers. Prior to bidding our final and official farewell to Waltham High, let us take this opportunity to invert the glass and observe the various milestones of the past three years as they pass in review before our eyes. Consequently our gaze is directed toward the year most recently completed—our Senior Year.

Proceeding rapidly into focus is the Senior Prom—a gala evening of rapture and nostalgia, our final social event at WHS.

Withdrawing further into the past, we see the elite among our thespians and musicians display their skills at the annual Talent Show, directed by Robin Farr, with the theme "Television Programmes." Then the basketball team floats past in a blaze of glory and representing our class we find Brian Duffy, Bill Rodriques, Ray Vitale, Dave Cail and Don Guillette. On the ice we find Timmy Cousens, Frank Kelley, Neil McPhee Charlie Freeman, Jack Estabrook, Larry Brophy, Larry Daniels, Billy Benoit, Jerry Leone cheered on to victory by Dotty DeVincent, Lee Garside, Diane Granchelli, Patty Brueck, Judy Campisi, Joan Crusco, and Sandy Markhan.

Our class is equally well represented in the awards' and honors' category. Sandra Rallis was chosen as the D.A.R. representative and Lenny O'Brien as our representative in the State House on Student Government Day.

Suddenly the steel framework of the skeletal new building looms into view. Under the protecting screen of darkness, three members of the Senior Class and two misguided juniors soar to towering heights to immortalize forever "Take a Rest," "F=MA," and "This Space Reserved for Mr. Lynch" on the girders three stories above the ground.

November 22 sees both the Lexington Street Junior High stage and the audience itself serve as a backdrop for the Senior Play, "Curtain Going Up," featuring the usual fine performance from our band and actors: Marie "Miss Burgess" McCorry, "Jocko" Stevenson, "Milt" Marshall, and "Buck" Morang.

The noble and conscientious efforts of our football team signals the outset of the senior athletic programme with Mr. Krol and Mr. Woronicz at the helm. The season proceeds with a mighty thud, punctuated with two notable victories over Newton and Haverhill attesting to the unabated efforts of Ray Vitale, Charlie Freeman, Terry Hardy Fred Tortola, Eddy Reed, Tony Russo, Jack Estabrook, Don Stevenson, Frank Forte Wayne Hamilton, Bruce Courtney, Dave O'Neill, Woody Savage, Joe Lentini, Jerry Pitorino, and Doug Martin. Ray Vitale receives the Most Valuable Player Award while Ed Reed is the recipient of the Doctor Cohn Trophy for the most improved player.

As the team fights with muscle, the cheerleaders add their lung power to the fray Marcia Anderson, Ann Fredericks, Sue Lydon, Christine Murphy, Margie Cannistraro Leslie Ectman, Birdie Ristuccia, and Sandy Sessi provide the background noise.

To guide the Student Council through the year to come, the Class of '61 elects Carol Mosca, president; Robert Mondene and Marcia Anderson, vice-presidents; and Eileen Garside secretary-treasurer. Heading the Executive Board of the class itself, we find Ray Vitale, president; Don Stevenson, vice-president; Donna Miller, secretary; and James Lucchese, treasurer.

We now discover that Marilyn Doria and Fred Pazzano have been chosen Co-Editors-in-Chief of the MIRROR and that Marilyn Doria and Florence Patti have been selected to head the column "This Week at Waltham High." Upon extending a hearty welcome to Rolf Stahlheber, our Exchange Student from Heidelberg, Germany, we continue this historic journey by descending to the junior year.

HISTORY

At the graduation of the Class of '60, '61 has its representatives. John Hanagan receives the Phi Beta Kappa Book Award, and Terry Hardy the Harvard and History Book Awards.

Lynne Yeamans is elected Waltham High's representative to Girls' State from which she is delegated to serve at Girls' Nation in Washington, D. C.

May 12 presents itself as a day of grandeur and disappointment, for it is now that the investiture of the junior members of the National Honor Society takes place. The recipients of the honor from the Class of '61 are Pam Agrillo, Marilyn Doria, Katherine Battaglia, Diane Bornback, Carole Chaisson, Helen Charlton, Patricia Clancy, Connie Curnyn, Marilyn Aronson, Leslie Ectman, Ann Shirley Farnsworth, Eileen Garside, Peter Jaquith, Carol Kenney, Doris Loeser, Kenneth Morash, Florence Patti, Patricia Powers, Sandra Rallis, Richard Westall, Lynne Yeamans, Stanley Garfield, Charles Weaver. The Society elects John Hanagan, president; Fred Pazzano, vice-president; Donna Miller, secretary-treasurer.

The glass reveals the winners of the Kingsbury Temperance Fund Essay Contest to be Elizabeth Rose, Marilyn Doria, Florence Patti, Richard Bazillion, Betty Wareing, Susan Kessler, Carol Kenney, and Joanne Bergman.

Representing Waltham for one day at the town of Westwood is our Student Exchange Committee composed of Judi Cambal, Richard Bazillion, Lynne Yeamans, Richard King, and Sandra Storer.

Passing in review before our eyes we see the Talent Show with "Expression" as its theme, and now, spotlighting the social season of our Junior Year, the Junior Prom with its Mardi Gras setting. Next is the election of Junior Class Officers: Frank Forte, president; Wayne Hamilton, vice-president; Leonard O'Brien, secretary; and Ray Vitale, treasurer. To conclude the year, we welcome Mr. William J. Gallagher as our new headmaster, upon the retirement of Mr. Sheehy.

The events of our sophomore year comprise a relatively blank stage compared to what the future held in store. Shyly at first, and then with increased vigor, our athletes venture onto their respective fields and courts to establish reputations for prowess and achievement in various sports. Others of us strive for scholastic accomplishment in hopes that someday we may fill the gap left by graduating upperclassmen.

Now, the sands having run their course, we must return to the realities of the present. Many classes before us have expressed their regrets at bidding farewell to Waltham High. May we echo their sentiments. Yet our pangs of parting can never equal the magnitude of the excitement and hope with which we face the future. Our experiences here have better equipped us to cope with the unknown challenges which lie ahead.

"There is a fifth dimension beyond that which is known to man; it lies somewhere between the summit of man's knowledge and the pit of man's fears, between the day and the darkness, sleeping and waking, reality and illusion. It is a place inhabited by outlandish people where strange things happen." So hold on to your seats and prepare for a trip into the "Twilight Zone."

(Lights out)

(Lights on, gradually)

It is a warm morning in July. In the background we hear the sounds of woodchoppers chopping, chopping, chopping. Many horses' hoofs resound on the cobble-stone streets, for the people of this small town are congregating for a purpose. A very haggard worry-worn woman of middle-age studies the proceedings from behind barred windows. It is July 24, 1683, and we are witnesses to a deed in one of the most infamous periods in history, a Salem Witch Trial, and YOU ARE THERE! ! !

On the street are heard the footsteps of the executioners echoing the poor woman's terrible fate. She is dragged down the street and stoned by her neighbors. "Be quick about it," one of the guards murmurs as the witch is fastened to the stake. The fire is lighted, the firewood burns, the witch screams and struggles, and then is heard no more. There is a great hush among the spectators, for she is nowhere to be seen.

(Lights out)

(Lights on, gradually)

It is 1983. "When I clap my hands, you will awaken and remember all that has happened." Thus spoke the noted psychologist, Woodrow Savage. As the cloud lifted and the room came into focus, the woman found herself gazing into the eyes of Doctor Lawrence Cianci, Professor of Psychology at Farnsworth University in San Francisco. Nurse Bonnie Robertson, Doctor Cianci's assistant, looked stunned at the revelation. "They were going to burn her!"

Bzzzzz: "Doctor Cianci" called his secretary Roseanne Orlando, "Theodore Zagwyn from Getchell's Grimy and Greasy Chemical Company is here with a package for you."

"It's come at last!" the doctor shouted dashing out of the room. Nurse Robertson and Mr. Savage followed him.

Alone in the room, the confused woman gazed at her strange surroundings. She jumped up, a wild look in her eyes. Dazed, she stumbled through the rear exit of the room and down the steps, almost tripping over the janitor Arthur Tate. Flying in fear past Arthur, she ran out into the street and was nearly run over by a Luchese Cab. After this narrow escape, she found herself in the path of a truck from Percy's Palatable Potato Paste Producers.

"Ye gad! What are thou, horrible monster that runs without horses? Am I dead? Art thou the devil? And prithee, what strange glowing light on yonder billboard breaks?"

"Yvonne Hefferle and Donald Stevenson starring in "The Amazing Story of Lawrence Coffin, First Astronaut to Be Lost in a Moon Crater! Co-starring James Dyke and Barbara Colvin Screen Play Adapted by his fellow traveler, Roland Anderson. Produced by Peter Kingsley and Directed by David Kingsley."

Looking up towards the sky in perplexity, she was frightened by a galaxy of flashing neon lights.

"Dine and Dance at Gardner's Golden Gardens."

"Luck May be Your Lady Tonight. Try Your Hand at Fate at Caruso's Casino."

"For the Best Italian Food in Town; Eat at Paglierani's Pizza Palace."

"Brush Your Cavities with Clark's Cavity Cleaner."

However, of all the signs, one particular message caught her eye. The antiquated Agrillo High School was being torn down by the Duffey and Demeo Demolition Corporation. Scrawled on one of the uppermost beams was the inscription "Class of 1961," and below this another read "Reserved for Mr. Lynch." Standing sorrowfully around the wrecking truck were partner physicists Peter Jaquith and Fred Demeo.

"But why are they so sad," she asked herself. "Indeed this is a strange world."

As she came to the next block, she became entangled in a milling throng of people trying to reach the entrances of two modernistic buildings, one designed by Gerry Leone and the other by Paul Simeone. Atop one was the sign "Patti's Popular Paper" and atop the other, "Descriptions From Doria's Desk."

"This price war has been raging for two weeks," said model Brenda Tedesco to "spaghetti sampler" Joe Taranto. "They're down to four cents now, three cents, FREE! !"

Unbeknown to our unfortunate visitor, this seemingly capitalistic competition was, in reality, a fight between the Republicans and the Democrats over the Presidential Campaign between Lenny O'Brien, Democrat, and Robert McElhiney, Republican. Liberalist Senators Barbara Rumson and Elaine Soberg were endorsing Lenny, while conservative Senators Joanne Bergman and Donna Dickie were endorsing Bob.

"Sure hope it's not as close as the Kennedy-Nixon campaign of 1961. I don't think the country could stand another recount," said star reporter Peter Falzone.

No sooner had she heard this than newspaper girl Lorraine Hart thrust a News-Tribune into her hand. On the front page was written in three-inch headlines, "First Atomic Powered Submarine Nautilus Found in Sea Grave by Amateur Skin Diver Joe Quinn.

Prophecy

Below this another headline read: "Girl Friday, Nancy Turner, formerly of 77 Sunset Strip, Discovers the Whereabouts of Explorer Sandra Storer, who disappeared five years ago in the Center of the Earth. 'Upon seeing this disheveled creature,' read the article, 'Miss Turner exclaimed,' Doctor Storer, I presume!" On the following page, pictures taken by Sharon McAskill and Barbara Le Clair portrayed ambassador Sandra Rallis and her undersecretary Sue Westcott returning from their trip abroad where they evaluated the election of Germany's new Socialist party president, Rolf Stahlheber of Heidelberg. The next five pages were taken up by a description of the D. A. R., Daughters of the American Radiation Convention. President Betty Wareing, pointed out to the Atomic Investigating Committee, Diane Bornback, Pat Ianetti, and Shirley Walton, the dangers of being over-exposed to Mondene Gamma Rays.

On the sports page a photograph showed professional cheerleaders Sandra Sessi, Bernardine Ristuccia, Marcia Anderson, Dotty DeVincent, Sue Lydon, Christine Murphy, and Eileen Garside urging the Larry Brophy pro-football team on to victory. Players Richard Dambosky, James Coye, Joseph Brennan, Ray Vitale, David Towne, and Lawrence Bonfilio scored touchdowns at Edmunds Field.

Below that was the article concerning the girls' tennis team managed by Gary Archibald. Players Judy Barber, Roberta Noke, Janet Wiker, and Shirley Centola had just won the gold medal for all of the United States in the Olympics held this year in Leopoldville, capital of the Congo. The game was momentarily interrupted by Lumumba's grandson Abraham Kasavuba, who insisted that cannibalism be included in the events.

She next turned to the entertainment page. "Ohhh! Thou sinners! Thou art not Puritans! 'The Play of the Week Presents My Fair Witch, starring Miss Carol Forbes, and Co-Starring the Witchettes, Judy Kochenderfer, Mary Ann Livermore, Carol Fiedler, and Janet O'Connell. Witches, witches, what if they find me? Where am I?—Astronauts, automic-powered submarines, and what is a Kasavubu?" Dropping the paper, she ran into Lembo's Coffee Grinder where the Beatnik poet Vinny Corcoran was reading "Exodus in a Wine Cellar," written by Judy Flaherty to the accompaniment of progressive jazz played by Stanley Garfield, Albert Santoro, Henry Bassing, Richard Catavolo, Camille Despres, Catherine Falzone, and Donna Miller. At the back table sat Charles Ramsay, Donald Wentworth, Joanne Ordile, and Jame Vaglica drinking the newly-invented Whitney Expresso Coffee with Clint Beaudette and Kenneth Sawyer. "Thy ungodly music makes my ears to burn!" she cried fleeing.

Ahead of her was the Julia Muller Secretarial School. Entering the building she was greeted by receptionist Judy Wyman.

"So you wish to enroll in a course here?"

"Wilst thou take me to thy leader?" the woman asked.

"Certainly," Judy replied, pressing the secret alarm bell. "Follow me."

As they walked down the corridor, they heard voices coming from room 210.

"When I was a senior, my class was deprived of a new school," Judy Flaherty, Dean of Admissions, said.

"Mine didn't have an Honors Group," teacher Pauline Berard added.

"Our girls won't have to fight for their food in a crowded cafeteria. President Powers will see to that!"

Entering President Powers' office, Miss Syman asked secretary Marie Orifice if the president was busy. "Yes, she's having a conference with Mary Kelton and Elaine Mahan, teachers from the Drake School of Secretaries. She won't be free for another hour."

At that moment Miss Powers' voice was heard coming over the jet-powered intercom. In fear the woman dashed from the room and out of the school.

"Stop! Stop! shouted policewoman Judy Desmond, "Halt or I'll shoot with my sunray gun."

She stopped. Just then Doctor Cianci shouted "Where have you been?" looking deeply into her eyes, he re-hypnotized her. "You must go back, back, way back," his voice faded away.

(Lights out!)

(Lights on, dimly!)

The crowd is once more silent. The fire crackles and burns, and the witch emits one final agonizing scream as she dies, for it is 1683 A. D. and prejudice and superstition rule in Salem. On the steps of the secretarial school, only a pile of ashes are witness to what was once a living creature. You have just been taken on a trip into the Twilight Zone!

(Lights out!)

STAGE IS ENVELOPED BY ARTIFICIAL FIRE.

Class Will

To Mr. Gallagher, our understanding headmaster, the Class of 1961 bequeaths a velvet throne and a crown of jewels for being the best principal any high school ever had.

Our gift to Mr. Westall is a wide, well-lighted, underground tunnel connecting the Vocational School with the focal point of the new building, the Cafeteria.

By special request, the Class of '61 endows Mrs. Flynn and the Library Council with a special computor to grind out information and answers to the ever-present questions of our inquiring students.

To Miss Balch we leave a Mr.-Fix-it-Man so that her typewriters and machines will always be in order.

An automatic index file is our gift to Mr. Husson to save him the wear and tear of having to look up students' names and their abilities.

We present to Mr. Woronicz a year's supply of yard sticks to keep him in command of the gym and surrounding area.

We award with pleasure to our most industrious and efficient secretaries, Miss Murray and Mrs. Slaman, a coffee and doughnut machine to be placed in the teachers' room.

We give to Mr. Clark one large carton of 95 unerased tapes.

To Miss McCullough we consign a monitoring room in the new building from which she can broadcast her own "Focus" program for all her students.

And speaking of the new building we cannot forget to mention that Mr. Morang will inherit closet space for 1500 new projects for his science fair.

We bequeath to Mr. Eames, our class advisor, 2000 autographed pictures to give out to the girls of his admiring, secret fan club.

We reserve for Mr. May, with great pleasure, a modernized detention room in the new building equipped with a time clock for the students to punch in and out.

For Mr. Hood we prescribe a case of tranquilizers to ease the tension of his increasingly demanding duties.

A private secretary for each student for dictation and a gigantic literary map are the gifts bestowed upon Miss Slattery.

Venimus! Videmus! Vicemus! And in the hope that Mr. Donovan will remember the outstanding Class of 1961, we wish buena suerte---which means "Good Luck" in Spanish.

To Mrs. McNeese we give a brace of round-trip tickets to Disneyland so that she may treat her grandchildren to an enjoyable summer.

For Miss Bliss we shall advertise for bids to construct an escalator to permit her classes to gather on time.

We present to Miss Eaton a life-size portrait of Suzie, her miniature Schnauzer, for her bulletin board.

We select for Mr. Klein a super-powered detergent to help him get his sink clean after completing many commendable art projects.

For Miss Grover we leave a direct line to the New York Stock Exchange and a life-time subscription to the Wall Street Journal for her clerical students.

We bestow upon Mrs. Shirley a periscope and a pair of sneakers so she can tip-toe around and see all the questions on the English achievements.

To Mr. Dwyer we award an Oscar for his outstanding performance as Ophelia in Hamlet.

With pleasure we give to Miss Betts a book of tickets to the Louvre, the Sorbonne, the Champs-Elysees, and Versailles as an incentive for her long-awaited trip to France.

To Mr. Hoyle our gift is a nuclear automobile engine with a simple operation for easy instruction for his classes.

To Mr. and Mrs. Avery we leave a special projection room to show the slides of their trip to Europe in the summer of 1960.

A high-powered telescope properly inscribed with Greek letters to augment the work of the weather station is our gift to Mrs. Case.

We leave to Miss Cunningham a real, live hot-dog dog - a dachshund.

We grant to Mr. Daniels a ten-foot slide rule for technical measurements and mathematical computations.

And with great pleasure we leave to the underclassmen, the newly-advanced upperclassmen, and the incoming sophomores a brand new building to add to an exhausted faculty, and the bright spirit and avid enthusiasm of the Class of 1961.

With a new coach and an enthusiastic team Waltham High opened its 1960 football season on September 24. Head coach John Krol, ex-Dartmouth star, replaced Mr. Joseph Zeno. Another new addition to the staff this year was Mr. Henry Woronicz, former Boston College great.

Because of the lack of spring practice and the loss of all-scholastic quarterback Larry Zeno, who had moved to the West Coast, Waltham

High got off to a slow start. However, with each game there was improvement until we succeeded in upsetting a powerful Haverhill team and shutting out our arch-rival Newton.

Seventeen boys from the class of 1961 led by co-captains Charlie Freeman and Ray Vitale sparked the team with their efforts. Ray Vitale was the recipient of the "Most Valuable Player" trophy while Eddie Reed received the "Most Improved Player" award.

Captain Ken Morash

For the first time at Waltham High School, a cross country team was formed under the direction of Coach Lee Gould. The campaign consisting of 9 meets was led by captain Ken Morash, with a supporting cast of senior teammates including: Lenny Gibson, Brian Duffy, Billy Rodrigues, and Jerry Leone.

Although we were up against very strong teams, we succeeded in beating Canton and our arch-rival Newton.

With only two first stringers returning from the previous year Coach Quinn was faced with the serious problem of rebuilding the W.H.S. basketball team. Faithfully assisted by co-captains Brian Duffy and Ray Vitale, he produced a team which gave a superb all-round effort during the 1960-1961 season.

The Waltham High School hockey team, chosen as a title contender before the season began, presented a lineup with as much experience as any team in the league. Included were the top scoring G.B.I. line of Captain Tim Cousens, Frank Kelley, and Neil McPhee. Neil took all honors as the G.B.I. League's top scorer

The 1960 campaign was the most successful in the modern baseball history of our school. Under first-year coach Ray Yetten the Waltham team became co-champion of the Suburban League and went on to reach the semi-finals of the Eastern Massachusetts Tourney before being eliminated by St. John's Prep.

The 1961 W.H.S. nine should be just as strong down the middle. The returning seniors are catcher Ray Vitale, second baseman Neil McPhee, and centerfielder Buddy Lando.

As we send the 1961 Mirror to press, we wish to make the following acknowledgments:

MR. THOMAS F. NEYLON, JR.

Most of all we wish to thank Mr. Thomas Neylon, our faculty advisor, for his enthusiasm and unceasing effort to make this Mirror the best that Waltham High has had. We know that many times we would have failed had it not been for Mr. Neylon's constant hard work, guidance, and creative ideas.

As you look through the yearbook you immediately notice the excellent sketches which appear on the pages. For his enthusiastic aid and constructive criticism we wish to thank Mr. Paul Shea, Art Supervisor of the Waltham Public Schools.

MR. PAUL D. SHEA

The Editors also wish to express thanks to Mr. William Gallagher and Mr. James Westall, our headmasters, for the many kindnesses which they accorded us while we were producing this book.

Congratulations and Very Best Wishes to Each Member of the Class of 1961.

Your school, your family and all of Waltham are proud of your accomplishments. As the years go by and you look back at Waltham High think also of "Your Home"

BECAUSE:

There's more to a home than a house on the street;
It's more than a place to sleep-in and eat;
It's more than a gathering cove for the night;
It's more than a glow and the cheer of its light.
If it's a home it's the place where your mind is at rest;
It's the place that you work for and dream of as best;
It's a kingdom of tenderness here upon earth,
Where the aged are sheltered and the children have birth.
It's the place where your love is, your hope's finest goal,
The place where you get breathing room for your soul;
It's the place where your failures are not advertised,
A spot where your virtues are well emphasized.
If under your roof-tree pure love has its seat,
Then there's more to your home than a house on the street.

When you graduate it's wonderful to have a telephone job waiting for you. You'll love the friendly new people you meet. And you'll like the excellent salary, the regular increases, the opportunities for advancement and the many additional benefits that make working for the Telephone Company so attractive to so many young people.

Telephone jobs are important ones. We have our own training program which you can enter without any previous job experience.

Why not come and see our employment interviewer soon . . . before you graduate. Ask the Guidance Counselor at your school to tell you when and where to apply.

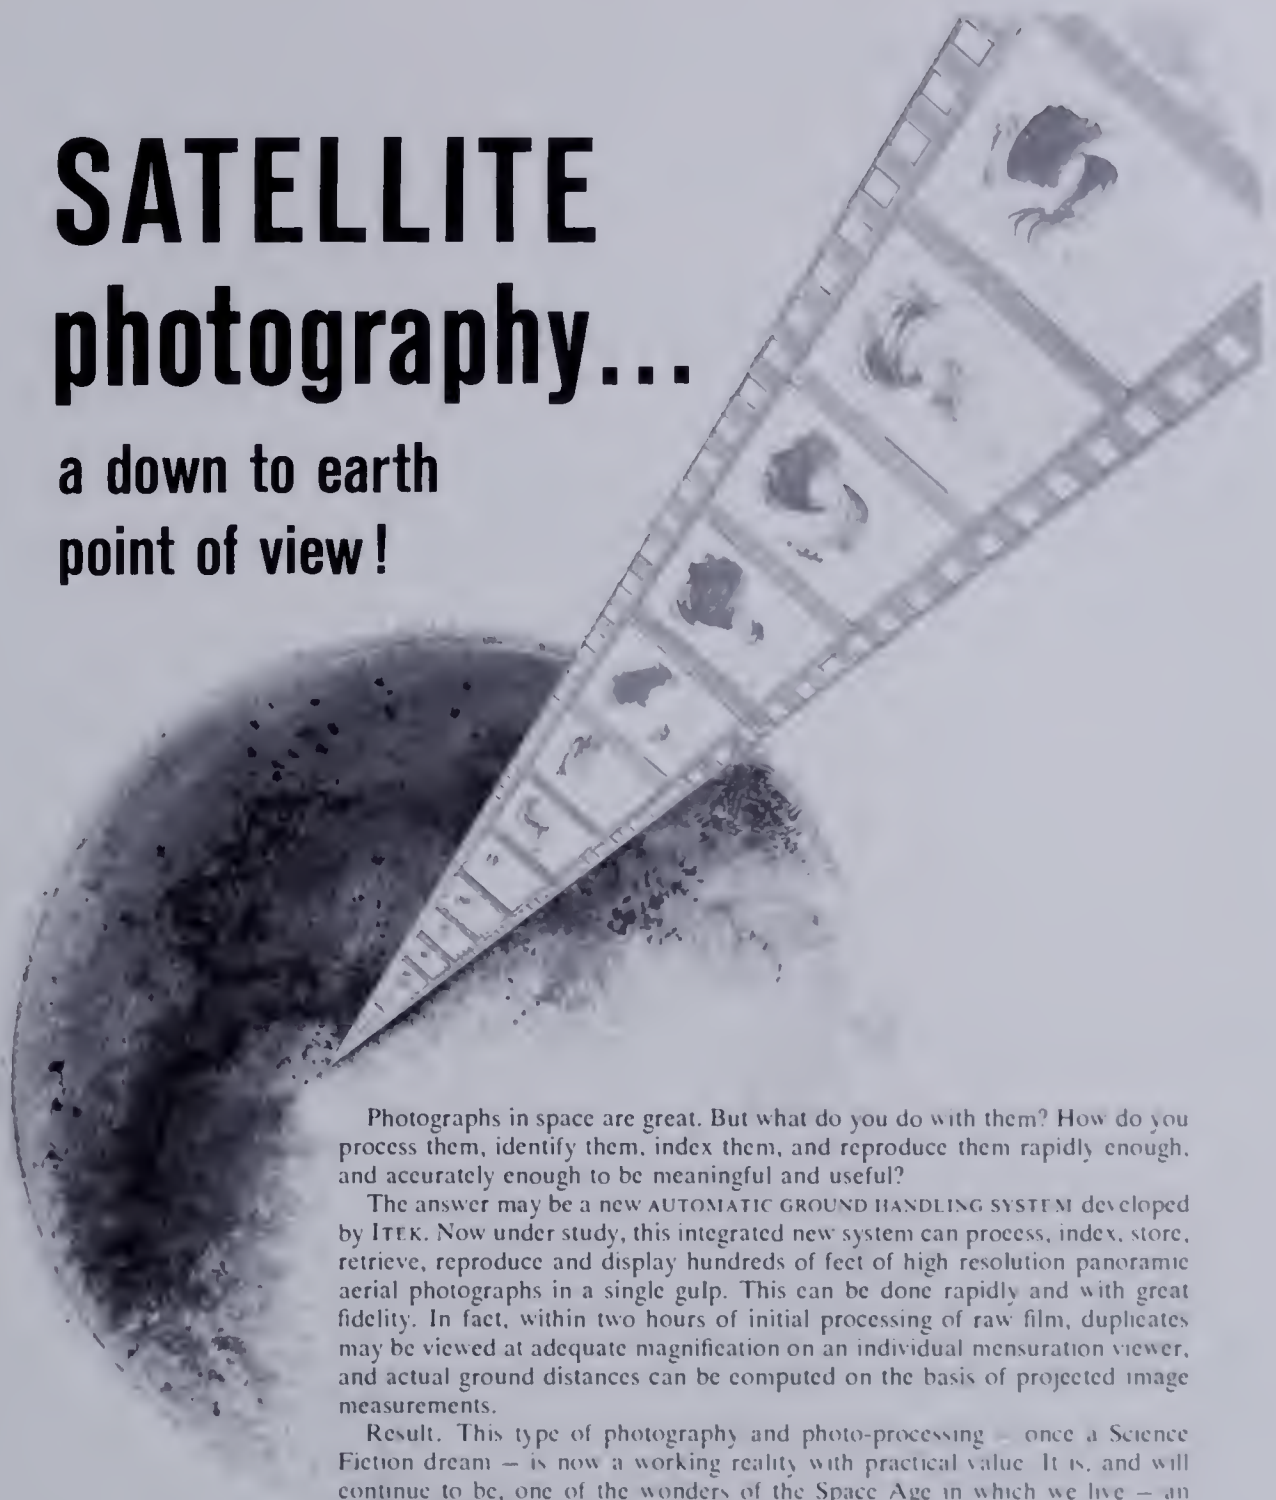
SATELLITE photography...

a down to earth point of view!



Photographs in space are great. But what do you do with them? How do you process them, identify them, index them, and reproduce them rapidly enough, and accurately enough to be meaningful and useful?

The answer may be a new AUTOMATIC GROUND HANDLING SYSTEM developed by ITEK. Now under study, this integrated new system can process, index, store, retrieve, reproduce and display hundreds of feet of high resolution panoramic aerial photographs in a single gulp. This can be done rapidly and with great fidelity. In fact, within two hours of initial processing of raw film, duplicates may be viewed at adequate magnification on an individual mensuration viewer, and actual ground distances can be computed on the basis of projected image measurements.

Result. This type of photography and photo-processing – once a Science Fiction dream – is now a working reality with practical value. It is, and will continue to be, one of the wonders of the Space Age in which we live – an age which offers a fascinating future to today's students.

Satellite Aerial reconnaissance photography is just one of the many advanced projects now under study at ITEK for Government and Industry. In pioneering the field of Information Technology for application in all areas of human endeavor, ITEK is also developing practical tools with practical value for all aspects of man's business, man's health and man's leisure.

pioneers in the field of Information Technology encompassing aerodynamics • chemistry computer technology • documentation • electronics • flight mechanics • gas dynamics • human factors infrared • linguistics • mathematical logic • optical engineering • photochemistry • photophysics solid state physics • structures and design • theoretical optics • thermodynamics
